

Thursday, May 20, 2021

Lauren Ingram

Captive Review Hall of Fame 2021

Tags: Hall of Fame, Michael Corbett, Michael Zuckerman, Paul Woehrmann, Power 50, Steve McElhiney

Five years ago, Captive Review introduced the Hall of Fame to the Power 50. It was a way to celebrate the most influential individuals who have contributed to the industry for decades and without who the industry would not be where it is today.

The captive professionals in these pages have knowledge and expertise that is vast, and each is gracious enough to willing share it.

This year we introduce four individuals to the Hall of Fame —Michael Corbett, Steve McElhiney, Paul Woehrmann, and Michael Zuckerman.

Michael Corbett

Corbett has long been a vocal advocate of the captive industry, and particularly of Tennessee as a domicile. One of the founding members of the Tennessee Captive Insurance Association (TCIA) Corbett currently serves on its board of directors. He joined the Tennessee Department of Captive Insurance (TDCI) in 2011 and shaped the domicile, leading to large growth for Tennessee's captive insurance industry. After working for the Tennessee regulator for eight years, last year Corbett moved to Pinnacle Financial Partners, where he is continuing to contribute to the captive industry.

Steve McElhiney

A well-known face in the US captive industry, McElhiney has a number of impressive achievements under his belt. Currently CEO and chairman of EWI Re, he is the past chair of both CICA and VCIA as well as the past president of the CPCU Society. Respected and sort out for his knowledge when it comes to reinsurance needs for captives and the complexities surrounding that, McElhiney often speaks at captive events to share his wisdom.

Paul Woehrmann

One of the most dedicated captive insurance experts in Europe, Woehrmann not only has 30 years' experience in the industry but a passion that is near unrivalled. He currently leads Zurich's captive services team for Europe, Middle East, Africa, Asia Pacific and LatAm, managing a global team that works on both life and non-life captives. Having contributed pearls of wisdom to the industry for years, Woehrmann remains a thought leader for both Zurich and new players entering the space. He is a constant presence at conferences and on panels, speaking to media outlets and writing articles, always willing to give back to the captive community by sharing his valuable insights. Few industry people are as trusted and well regarded by professionals as Woehrmann, who has continued to create and develop new programs for many years.

Events

Captive Review US Awards 2025

11 August 2025

Captive Review European Awards 2025

4 November 2025

European Captive Forum 2025

5-6 November 2025

News

Thursday, June 19, 2025

Mark Richardson

Reforms shaking life into EU captive markets

Tags: FERMA, Laurent Nihoul, Solvency II, Typhaine Beaupérin, UK domicile

FERMA's Typhaine Beaupérin and Laurent Nihoul explain how nearly all EU-domiciled captives will be able to benefit from...

MORE

Tuesday, June 17, 2025

Mark Richardson

Reputation a great risk for new and sophisticated captives

Tags: Nir Kossovsky, parametric insurance, Reputation Risk, Steel City Re, US Captive Summit

Based on a presentation at Captive Review's 2025 USA Captive Summit in Chicago earlier this month, CEO of...

MORE

Thursday, June 12, 2025

Mark Richardson

ParetoHealth expands leadership team with key hires

Tags: ParetoHealth, People moves

A new chief underwriting officer joins from Zurich North America, with a new chief revenue officer also joining...

MORE

Thursday, June 12, 2025

Mark Richardson

Captive Review US Awards 2025: Individual category finalists revealed!

Tags: Captive Review US Awards

After releasing finalists in our 21 company categories yesterday, today we unveil the 27 captive professionals who will...

MORE

Michael Zuckerman

As an associate professor at Temple University, there are few in the world more academically qualified and knowledgeable about captive insurance than Zuckerman. He started teaching at the Temple University Fox School of Business in 2000, at that time alongside his role in Aon Risk Solutions. Now Zuckerman teaches at the well-respected business school while consulting, as well as lending his knowledge and expertise to the captive community.

Share this

RELATED POSTS

Normalisation, heightened volatility and manager selection

Tuesday, June 03, 2025

Gregory H. Cobb, of Sage Advisory Services, provides insights on how emerging and more volatile...Read more

CR TV: Analysing Delaware's captive market with regulator Stephen Taylor

Tuesday, December 17, 2024

Director of the Delaware Bureau of Captive and Financial Products Stephen Taylor identifies trends he...Read more

CR TV: Spring Consulting on key considerations for captive formation

Thursday, December 12, 2024

In a wide ranging interview with Spring Consulting's Prabal Lakhanpal and Peter Johnson, the pair...Read more

Q&A: Big Ticket's Ken Fraser and Rob Bartlett

Tuesday, October 29, 2024

Fresh from winning Insurtech Solution of the Year at the Captive Review US Awards earlier...Read more

Growth opportunities for PCCs and PCC cells in the UK and Europe

Friday, October 25, 2024

Michael Whitfield of Atlas Insurance PCC explains how, after the disruption caused by Brexit, the...Read more

Contact us | About us | Terms & Conditions | Cookie Policy | Privacy | Advertise with us

Copyright © 2025 CaptiveReview

